The Holy Spirit Element

John 14:26
“But the Counselor, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, will teach you all things and will remind you of everything I have said to you.”

John 16:13-15
“When the Spirit of truth comes, he will guide you into all the truth … he will take what is mine and declare it to you.”
The Holy Spirit Element

1 Corinthians 2:10-11

“God has revealed it to us by his Spirit. The Spirit searches all things, even the deep things of God. For who among men knows the thoughts of a man except the man's spirit within him? In the same way no one knows (εγνωκέν) the thoughts of God except the Spirit of God.”
1 Corinthians 2:14

“The person without the Spirit does not accept \( \text{devcetai} \) the things that come from the Spirit of God but considers them foolishness, and cannot understand \( \text{ouj duvnatai gnw`nai} \) them because they are discerned only through the Spirit”
The Holy Spirit Element

Issue:

Does the illuminating work of the Holy Spirit cause believers to KNOW or to ACCEPT the will of God as revealed in the Bible?
Luther, The Bondage of the Will

“... no man perceives one iota of what is in the Scriptures unless he has the Spirit of God. All men have a darkened heart, so that even if they can recite everything in Scripture, and know how to quote it, yet they apprehend and truly understand nothing of it... For the Spirit is required for the understanding of Scripture, both as a whole and in any part of it.”
John Calvin (in a sermon on 1 Timothy 3:8-10):

“When we come to hear the sermon or to take up the Bible, we must not have the foolish arrogance of thinking that we shall easily understand everything we hear or read. But we must come with reverence, we must wait entirely upon God, knowing that we need to be taught by his Holy Spirit, and that without Him we cannot understand anything that is shown to us in his Word.”
“Finally, if we want to come to a truly biblical hermeneutics, we must realize with the Reformers that the Word of God cannot be understood without the illumination of the Spirit of God ... The final key to the hermeneutics of the Reformers is the confession ‘Spiritus Sanctus est Verus Interpres Scripturae’ (the Holy Spirit is the true interpreter of scripture). Therefore the beginning and end of all biblical hermeneutics is the humble prayer ‘Veni Creator Spiritus’ (Come, Creator Spirit)” (pp 151-152).
“The characteristic procedures and techniques of evangelical hermeneutics are now before us, and it remains only to add that the evangelical way of practicing them involves radical dependence on the Holy Spirit, a dependence that is expressed by prayer for wisdom and insight before, during, and after the hermeneutical exercise itself. Evangelicals do not forget that sin, as an inbred anti-God perversity of the soul, disables minds from understanding God no less than it disables wills from obeying him, so that divine help is needed at every stage of the process of receiving the divine message” (page 158)

“… it would appear that what the Reformers called ‘illumination’ refers to understanding the meaning of the text, ‘conviction’ to the attribution of a positive significance to the text. In other words, the Spirit helps the reader understand the pattern of meaning that the author willed and convinces the reader as to the truth of that teaching” (page 64)
Consequences of the Holy Spirit

Element:

1. The need for humility before scripture

2. The need for careful study of scripture

“The role of the Spirit in interpretation is not an excuse for laziness ... To pray that the Spirit would help us understand the meaning of a text because we do not want to spend time studying or using the tools that have been made available to us (such as commentaries, concordances, dictionaries, etc.) may border on blasphemy, for it seeks to ‘use’ the Spirit for our own ends. The Holy Spirit brings to the believer a blessed assurance of the truthfulness of the biblical teachings, but he cannot be manipulated to cover for laziness in the study of the Word of God” (Grand Rapids: Baker, 1994: 71)
Consequences of the Holy Spirit Element:

3. The need to keep the Holy Spirit and scripture connected together:

• “If we live by the word alone, we dry up.”

• “If we live by the Spirit alone, we blow up.”

• “But if we live by the word and the Spirit, we grow up!”
Consequences of the Holy Spirit Element:

3. The need to keep the Holy Spirit and scripture connected together:

“The Spirit may blow where, but not what, He wills”

5. The Theological Element
The Grammatical Element

Thesis: “Every translation involves interpretation”
The Grammatical Element

Italian Proverb: “Traduttore traditore”
(“The translator is a traitor”)
The Grammatical Element

Swedish Bible Translation Committee:
“The art of translation is the art of compromise”
Haim Nachman Bialik (1873-1934: Jewish poet):
“Reading the bible in translation is like kissing your bride through a veil”
Grant Showerman (1870-1935; Prof. of Classics, Univ. Wisconsin; translator of classical works): “Translation is sin”
Then he [Jesus] said to them, “Suppose one of you has a friend, and he goes to him at midnight and says, ‘Friend, lend me three loaves of bread, because a friend of mine on a journey has come ...
... to me, and I have nothing to set before him.’ 7“Then the one inside answers, ‘Don’t bother me. The door is already locked, and my children are with me in bed. I can’t get up and give you anything.’ 8I tell you, though he will not get up and give him the bread because he is his friend, yet because of the man’s boldness [marginal reading: persistence] he will get up and give him as much as he needs.” (NIV) ajnaivdeian (anaideian) = “boldness” ajnaivdeian (anaideian) = “persistence”

Example 2: Luke 11:9

“So I say to you: ‘Ask (ἀἰτεῖτε/aiteite) and it will be given to you; seek (ζητεῖτε/zêteite) and you will find; knock (κοπεῦτε/krouete) and the door will be opened to you’” (NIV)

Present Imperatives = ongoing, continuous action
Example 3: 1 Timothy 2:12

12 “I permit no woman to teach or to have authority (αὐτῷ τὴν αὐθορείαν) over men” (NIV)

1. Traditional View: “to have authority over”
2. Challenging View: “to represent oneself as originator of”

Genre: A technical term for different types of writings or categories of literature
The Literary Element

Types of Genres in Scripture:

- History:

- Letters:
  - Paul (13), John (3), Peter (2), James, Hebrews, Jude, Revelation 2-3

- Poetry:
  - Psalms, Song of Songs, much of prophetic material
The Literary Element

- Wisdom:
  Proverbs, Ecclesiastes, Job, some Psalms, James

- Apocalyptic:
  Revelation, Daniel 7-12, Zechariah, parts of Ezekiel, Mark 13

- Legal:
  parts of Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers, Deuteronomy
The Literary Element

Gospels:
Matthew, Mark, Luke, John

Parables:
Four Gospels, parable of Nathan to David (2 Samuel 12:1-4)
Psalm 92:1-2 (Poetry: “Merismus”)

“It is good to praise the Lord and make music to your name, O Most High,
to proclaim your love in the morning and your faithfulness at night.”
Matthew 5:29 (Hyperbole)

“If your right eye causes you to sin, pluck it out and throw it away.”
Revelation 13:1 (Apocalyptic)

“And I saw a beast rising out of the sea, with ten horns and seven heads, with ten diadems upon its horns and a blasphemous name upon its heads.”
The Literary Element

Revelation 13:1 (Apocalyptic)

“And I saw a beast rising out of the sea, with ten horns and seven heads, with ten diadems upon its horns and a blasphemous name upon its heads.”

Elephant = ?

Noose = ?
The Literary Element

Revelation 13:1 (Apocalyptic)

“And I saw a beast rising out of the sea, with ten horns and seven heads, with ten diadems upon its horns and a blasphemous name upon its heads.”

City = ?

Dragon = ?

The Literary Element

Proverbs 26:4-5 (Wisdom)

“Do not answer a fool according to his folly, or you will be like him yourself. Answer a fool according to his folly, or he will be wise in his own eyes.”
1. Literary Devices in Letters:
   Example: The “Appeal” Formula

The Literary Element

Example: The “Appeal” Formula

A. Form: 4 main parts

1. Verb “I appeal” (parakalevw) or its synonym “I ask” (ejerwtavw) in the first person

2. The recipients of the appeal

3. Prepositional phrase indicating source of sender’s authority to appeal (this element typically occurs only in official correspondence and not in private letters)

4. Content of the appeal: introduced by a “that” (oJtiv or i{na}) clause
The Literary Element

Paul’s letters: Four basic elements

Example: Romans 12:1
“I appeal to you therefore, brothers, by the mercies of God, that you present your bodies as a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable to God, which is your spiritual worship”

1. The verb: “I appeal”
2. The recipients: “to you, brothers”
3. Prepositional phrase: “by the mercies of God”
4. The content of the appeal: “that you present …”

Other examples: Rom 15:30; 16:17; 1 Cor 1:10; 4:16; 16:15-16; 2 Cor 2:8; 10:1-2; Phil 4:2; 1 Thess 4:1, 10b-12; 5:14; 2 Thess 3:14; Eph 4:1
B. Function

- Primary function:
  - to indicate a major transition in the text
  - formula marks transition either from the end of the thanksgiving to the beginning of letter body (1 Cor 1:10; Phlm 8-9) or, as more typically happens, a transition within the body of letter (Rom 12:1; 15:30; 16:7; 1 Cor 16:15; 2 Cor 10:1; Phil 4:2; 1 Thess 4:1; Eph 4:1)
B. Function (cont)

- Secondary function:
  - appeal formula used in official correspondence when writer had a good relationship with recipients and confidently expected them to do contents of letter
  - Appeal formula thus express a more friendly, less heavy-handed tone
  - Paul uses the appeal formula in this nuanced manner, where his authority is not in question and he can make a request rather than a command in the confidence that his appeal will be obeyed
C. Appeal Formula in Philemon

“Therefore, although in Christ I could be bold and command you to do what you ought to do, more because of love I appeal—I, Paul, an old man and now also a prisoner of Christ Jesus—I appeal to you concerning my child, to whom I gave birth in prison, Onesimus…” (vv 8-10)
2. Literary Devices in Hebrew Poetry:
Example: Inclusio

• inclusio (sometimes referred to as bracketing or envelope structure): the repetition of a key word, phrase or sentence at the beginning and ending of a literary unit, thereby functioning as bookends and marking the boundaries of that unit
The Literary Element

2. Literary Devices in Hebrew Poetry:
Example: Inclusio

Psalm 118:1-29

“Give thanks to the Lord, for he is good; his love endures forever” (verse 1)

“Give thanks to the Lord, for he is good; his love endures forever (verse 29)

The Historical Element

- Importance of the Historical Context
  - Parable of the Good Samaritan

The Good Samaritan, Rembrandt
Parable of the Good Samaritan

Samaritans = Decendants of 10 Lost Tribes of Israel
Parable of the Good Samaritan
Parable of the Good Samaritan

John 4:9 "The Samaritan woman said to him, 'How is it that you, a Jew, ask a drink of me, a woman of Samaria?'"
Parable of the Good Samaritan

36 “Which of these three do you think was a neighbor to the man who fell into the hands of robbers?”

37 The expert in the law replied, “The one who had mercy on him.”

Jesus told him, “Go and do likewise.”
The Historical Element

- Problem of the “Historical Gap”
- Scripture as “Culturally Conditioned”
- Scripture as “Culturally Bound”
John Cooper, A Cause for Division, 1991:

“But first it is crucial to reiterate that all of the Bible is authoritative and normative for today. The issue is not whether the Bible is normative or which parts are normative, but how it is normative for today.” (p. 26)
Acts of Synod, 1978

“Hermeneutical Principles Concerning Women in Ecclesiastical Office”:

“A distinction must be made between a moral principle and the application of that principle. The former is normative for the Christian life today, the latter is not necessarily so.” (p. 500)

“Sometimes we may have to come to the conclusion that, while certain laws no more apply in the form in which they were cast, yet their underlying principle is just as binding today as it ever was.”
John Cooper, A Cause for Division, 1991:

“Reformed hermeneutics recognizes the difference between a principle and the application of that principle. A principle states God’s abiding will for our lives, but how that principle is applied may vary according to time and place.” (p 29)

“So, just as it is possible to identify in all the books of Scripture universal and abiding truths about the will, work and ways of God, it is equally possible to find in every one of them universal and abiding principles of loyalty and devotion to the holy, gracious Creator; and then to detach these from the particular situations to which, and the cultural frames within which, the books apply them, and to reapply them to ourselves in the places, circumstances, and conditions of our own lives today” (page 157)
Differing Degrees of Cultural Influence in Scripture

Minimal Cultural Influence: Col 3:1-3

“Since (literally ‘if’), then, you have been raised with Christ, set your minds on things above, where Christ is seated at the right hand of God. Set your minds on things above, not on earthly things. For you died and your life in own hidden with Christ in God”

Step 1: Discover the abiding principle or underlying moral truth claim (exegesis)

Step 2: Apply that abiding principle to today’s new and contemporary situation (homiletics)
Some Cultural Influence: Eph 2:11-22

Division between Jewish Christians and Gentile Christians over the issue of circumcision.

Step 1: Discover the abiding principle or underlying moral truth claim (exegesis)

Step 2: Apply that abiding principle to today’s new and contemporary situation (homiletics)
Differing Degrees of Cultural Influence in Scripture

Great Cultural Influence: 1 Cor. 16:20b
“Greet one another with a holy kiss”

Step 1: Discover the abiding principle or underlying moral truth claim (exegesis)

Step 2: Apply that abiding principle to today’s new and contemporary situation (homiletics)

The Theological Element

Herman Bavinck,
Gereformeerde Dogmatiek
(Kampen: J. H. Kok, 1906):

“... “Holy Scripture has a purpose that is religious-ethical through and through. It is not designed to be a manual for the various sciences. It is the first principle only of theology and desires that we will read and study it theologically” (p 471).
The Theological Element

Meaning of the Term

- God is the primary author of the bible

“Scripture contains a great deal that does not find its explanation in history, nor in the secondary authors, but only in God as the Auctor Primarius ... In view of all this, it is not only perfectly warranted, but absolutely necessary, to complement the usual grammatical and historical interpretation with a third. The name “Theological Interpretation” deserves the preference, as expressive of the fact that its necessity follows from the divine authorship of the Bible” (pp 133-134)
The Theological Element

- The Bible as a Unity
- Interpreting Scripture with Scripture
- The “Analogy of Scripture/Faith”
John Cooper, A Cause for Division, 1991:

“The Bible is analogical--different texts speak to the same issues, thus modifying and reinforcing each other as they present a unified message ...What God means to teach us in a specific passage cannot be understood apart from everything else he teaches us” (p 21)
“If we believe that each individual writing found in the Bible has a common divine author, then our exegetical exploration expands beyond the relationship between a text and the single biblical writing in which it is found to include questions about its relationship to the entire biblical canon. We are compelled to explore how each part is in continuity with, is consistent with, and must be interpreted by the whole of biblical teaching” (p 122)

Interpreting Scripture with Scripture

Example #1: Luke 14:26 “If anyone comes to me and does not hate his father and mother …he cannot be my disciple.”

= Hate parents?!
The Theological Element

- Interpreting Scripture with Scripture
- Jesus’ words in Luke 10:27 “Love your neighbor as yourself”—thus Jesus wants us to love, not hate, others
The Theological Element

- Interpreting Scripture with Scripture
- Jesus’ words in Luke 18:20 “You know the commandments: ‘Do not commit adultery, do not murder, do not steal, do not give false testimony, honor your father and mother.’”
The Theological Element

Interpreting Scripture with Scripture

“hate” = Jewish way of saying “love less”

Gen 29:30-31: Jacob “loved Rachel more than Leah … and Leah was hated”; “loved more” in the first verse is restated as “hated” in the second verse.
Theological Element

Interpreting Scripture with Scripture

Mal 1:2-3: God says, “I have loved Jacob but Esau I have hated”; God did not actually “hate” Esau but rather “loved him less” than Jacob

Interpreting Scripture with Scripture

Example #2: Church Discipline

- 1 Cor 5:1-2 “… should you not have put out of your fellowship the man who has been doing this?” (i.e., excommunication)
The Theological Element

Interpreting Scripture with Scripture

Example #2: Church Discipline

- Matthew 18:15-17
  - 1\(^{st}\) step: “If a brother or sister sins, go and point out the fault, just between the two of you. If he or she listens to you, you have won them over”
  - 2\(^{nd}\) step: “But if they will not listen, take one or two others along, so that every matter may be established by the testimony of two or three witnesses”
The Theological Element

- Interpreting Scripture with Scripture
- Example #2: Church Discipline

- Matthew 18:15-17 (continued):
  - 3rd step: “If they still refuse to listen, tell it to the church”
  - 4th step: “and if they refuse to listen even to the church, treat them as you would a pagan or tax collector”
Interpreting Scripture with Scripture

Example #2: Church Discipline

- Galatians 6:1 “Brothers, if a person is overtaken in any sin, you who are spiritual should restore that person in a spirit of gentleness”

- 2 Thess 3:15 “… and have nothing to do with him, that he may be ashamed. And do not look on him as an enemy but warn him as a brother”
